[2] There are several ways to reduce birth rate. First is providing people with effective contraception as well as reliable and safe access to abortion (sử phá thai) facilities with proper education about the value of using them as well as family planning. However even with the plans and laws to regulate population, it is still growing uncontrollably and time to stop it is running out.

Today from crude oil we make gasoline for our cars, diesel fuel for our trucks and ships, and jet fuel for our airplanes. Crude oil is a mixture of organic chemicals of liquids and dissolved gases which are of little use in its crude state. In addition, oil is used to generate electricity, heat our buildings, lubricate our machines, and even make plastics, detergents, and chemicals. Oil has transformed our daily lives. In fact, nearly one-third of the world's oil comes from offshore fields in our oceans. Areas which are the most popular for oil drilling are the Arabian Gulf, and the Gulf of Mexico. Recently, more attention has been focused on finding and producing oil offshore. One of the first offshore oil rigs was built in 23 feet of water in the Gulf of Mexico in 1947. Because of engineering and technological advances, it is possible to operate in deeper and more hostile waters. We can now build platforms for oil production taller than most of the world's skyscrapers and anchor them to the sea floor in waters deeper than 1300 feet. The larger platforms hold thousands of tons of equipment and can accommodate hundreds of people who work and live there to ensure that oil is produced around the clock.

Although they are safe to use in a short term, coal, gas and oil present a long-term threat to the environment. All three types of fossil fuels produce carbon dioxide in far greater quantities than plants can use. The carbon dioxide then accumulate in the atmosphere and may even increase the earth's "heat load" and lead global rises in temperature. Furthermore, all three fossil fuels are non-renewable forms of energy.

Geothermal power is unlikely ever to be an energy source of major importance. It is limited and is exploitable in only a few places. Hydro-power offers a much more useful source of energy. It is also renewable but its availability is limited. Dams cannot be built in certain areas. Wind power is a pollution-free source of renewable energy but it cannot be used in many parts of the world where there is insufficient wind. Wave power is non-polluting and doesn't add to the earth's heat but it is ineffective where the sea is usually calm.

Solar energy is renewable. It doesn't cause pollution and doesn't add to the earth's heat load. Unfortunately. Solar power is not distributed equally and it also requires expensive equipment. Finally nuclear power provides a very efficient and renewable power source. However, there is not only a great danger of leaks or accidents but there is also the problem of the disposal of radioactive waste.

Question 19: The threat caused by fossil fuels in the long term is.

A. the increase in global temperature.                      B. the non-renewable forms of energy.
C. the safety of using them.                      D. the greater quantities of carbon dioxide in plants.

Question 20: The following renewable energies are not polluted EXCEPT

- A. wave power.                      B. wind power.                      C. nuclear power.                      D. solar power.

Question 21: it's worrying to use nuclear power because

- A. it's non-renewable.                      B. it is not leaking.                      C. it can cause accidents.                      D. it is inefficient.

Question 22: What is NOT true about the passage?

- A. Where dams cannot be built, hydro-power is impossible.
B. Likely any other renewable energy, solar power has some disadvantages.
C. Fossil fuels are unlimited and safe to use in the distant future.
D. The use of solar power and wind power depends on the weather.
